

To Whoever Finds This

Dear friend,

If you are reading this it is because I am no longer here.

These are the pictures of my life or, at least, some of them. This is my story or, at least, part of it. I cannot tell it to you myself. I cannot give you the words although there is much to tell.

If you are kind, please lend me your voice
and make your words stand for mine.

With gratitude,

Oloman Green
